OPPORTUNITIES

The University of Chichester have launched their "Being a... Student" series. In these workshops, you can experience what it is like to be a student studying a range of different subjects. Check them out here and if you can't make the date, you can catch up on demand here.

Every year, APR host a 'Mini Actuarial Academy' for those who are interested in learning more about an actuarial career. The academy is run for one week every summer from their central London offices* and offers an introduction to some key actuarial concepts and an insight into the different types of work an actuary could be involved in. You can find out more and register here.

Middlesex University have a range of live webinars, whether you'd like to learn about all the different job roles that go into making Usain Bolt run faster to how to write scripts for comedy sitcoms, there is something for everyone! Check out the topics and register here.

Hopefully, you used your April Break wisely and were able to take part in all of the events and experiences available to you. If not, don't worry! It's not too late. You can use Springpod to search and apply for virtual work experience opportunities later in the year.

You might be thinking "how can I apply for work experience if I don't know what I want to do?" and we hear you! No really, we do. If you're still working out where you want to focus your future, there are lots of free online tools you can use:

- Find out your personality type on Launch Your Career
- Take part in challenges using Panjango online
- Read about job roles & how much you can earn on Career Pilot
